"ANTI-FOREIGN."

STRANGE REPORT FROM CANTON.

DEMONSTRATION TO-MORROW?

Moves to organise an anti-Christian and anti-foreign demonstration in Canton to-morrow are said to be disavowed by the Provincial Government.

The demonstration, or procession—about which word has reached the Canton authorities—
may be the predecessor of something promised for Christmas for which a certain section had planned things on a fairly extensive scale.

It may also be that the preparations for to-morrow—and there certainly have been signs that the organisation is ready—may be more anti-Christian, essentially,
than anti-foreign.

At any rate the Canton Government is rumoured to be striving to restrict the demonstrators to the city which is taken to mean giving the Shakes and adjacent parts of the Bund a wide berth.

Some of the more conservative of the Kuomintang politicians are even said to be opposed to the idea of a procession along the waterfront, this report emanating from a statement that steps have been taken to be ready for emergencies.

"IOLANTHE."

NO PERFORMANCE THIS EVENING.

There is no performance of
"Iolanthe" this evening as erroneously announced in the morning papers. A matinee will be given to-morrow evening. Further performances take place on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings.

LOCAL WEDDINGS.

WALL—MCGREGOR.

Dr. Austin Darley Wall of Shanghai and Miss Margaret Alice McGregor, who arrived from Home by the s.s. "Antenor," were married at St. John's Cathedral on Friday afternoon last.

The bride was given away by Dr. C. H. Brangwin, port medical officer of Swatow who has just returned from a year's leave.

Surg.-Lt.-Com. Brown, H.M.S.
"Hawkins," was the best man.

FOSTER-TURNER—RADLEY.

St. John's Cathedral was the scene of a pretty wedding yesterday when Mr. Frederick Wentworth Foster-Turner and Miss Rosina Lily Radley were joined in marriage.

The bridegroom is well known in Hongkong as an architect and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Foster-Turner of Bush Hill Park, N., and the bride the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Radley, of Cross Park, Pilton, North Devon. She arrived in the Colony during the week-end.

The bride, who was given away
by Mr. S. Hamer, was beautifully dressed in white crepe satin, trimmed with Brussels lace, and wore a Brussels lace veil with white heather, and a wreath of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white roses and chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaid was Miss Gladys
Brock, who wore a charming dress
of pale pink crepe de chine trimmed with silk lace and hat to match. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and chrysanthemums.

Mr. S. Feltham acted as best man to the bridegroom. The Rev. T. B. Powell, M.A., officiated
and Mr. F. Mason was at the organ.

After the ceremony a reception
was held at the residence of Mr.
S. Hamer, 10 Ventris Road, where many friends of the bride and bridegroom gathered to offer good wishes.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Foster-
Turner left for Cheung Chau,
where the honeymoon is to be spent. The bride's going away
dress was of tan crepe de chine
with lace to tone and velvet ribbon,
her hat being of brown Bangkok
straw with flowered wreath.

TO-DAY'S DOLLAR

The closing rate of the dollar,
on demand to-day was 2 1/4 5/16.

SEAMEN'S STRIKE.

BIG CLAIM FOR DAMAGES.

FORTHCOMING LEGAL BATTLE

(Reuter's Service.)

Sydney, Dec. 14.

Messrs. Walsh and Johannsen
have applied for writs claiming $20,000 each from the Government alleging wrongful arrest and imprisonment.

Mrs. Walsh and Mrs. Johannsen are also claiming $5,000 for loss of their husbands' services.

It may be recalled that Mrs.
Walsh was formerly Miss Adela
Pankhurst, the militant suffragette.

This is an echo of the recent seamen's strike in Australia when the Government felt compelled to use drastic measures of arrest,
imprisonment and deportation.

Messrs. Walsh and Johannsen
were arrested, but subsequently released on an order of the Supreme Court of Australia, and are now claiming against the Government.

Mrs. Walsh was formerly Miss Adela Pankhurst, of the Pankhurst trio who led the suffragette movement some years ago. When the movement succeeded, the Pankhurst family withdrew from
it. The other sister is engaged in religious work.

INDIA'S CONDITION.

VICEROY'S "ROSY

COMMERCIAL ENERGY.

(Reuter's Service.)

Calcutta, Dec. 14.

A rosy picture of India's economic condition was painted by Lord
Reading in an exhaustive address to the Indian Chambers of Commerce.

He recalled the depressing conditions of 1921 and the adverse trade balance, 300,000,000 rupees.
The political atmosphere was heavily charged and though there was still room for improvement
last year's overseas trade had reached the record figure 650,000-000 rupees.

The Budget, which showed a deficit of 200,000,000 rupees in 1921 was made into a surplus last year.

The military expenditure last year was 560,000,000 rupees compared with 760,000,000 in 1921.

In regard to labour legislation,
the Viceroy mentioned the Bill
submitted to the Assembly to encourage and protect a healthy
trade union organisation.

He attributed the improved outlook to the grit and energy of the commercial community; also the improvement in the political situation which engendered a feeling of stability and continuity.

FRENCH FINANCE.

AN OMINOUS SYMPTOM.

BILLS REFERRED BACK.

(Reuter's Service.)

Paris, Dec. 14.

An ominous symptom in the political and financial situation is revealed by the Finance Committee of the Chamber referring back the Finance Bills dealing with further taxation and the establishing of a Sinking Fund.

[An earlier message states:—
Discontent of businessmen at
M. Loucheur's financial proposals is taking active form in various parts of the country, business groups registering protests. At Carcassonne a solemn pledge was taken by all local tradespeople to refuse to pay taxes if the proposals were adopted, while the Nimes Commercial Union has decided on a two hours strike as a protest.

The fall of the franc is causing a steady rise in the prices of commodities. Figures published by the General Statistics Service show a rise of nine per cent. in wholesale prices in France in October and November compared to a fall in Britain, Germany, Sweden, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland and the United States.

SORDID CASE.

HAYLEY MORRIS ON TRIAL.

COUNSEL AND JURY'S DUTY.

(Reuter's Service.)

London, Dec. 14.

Sir E. Marshall Hall, in opening the prosecution, said Morris
was a merchant engaged in Chinese trade.

The woman prisoner, Roberts,
had been a domestic servant and also a shop assistant, but when arrested was acting house keeper
to Morris.

Detailing the charges, counsel
said Roberts had not merely conspired to procure girls, but did her utmost to get them to do what she knew Morris wanted them to do.

Sir Marshall Hall told how the police began to make enquiries
after the girl, in the absence of the prisoners, telephoned her friends in London.

The roads were searched and the girl was found crouching in a ditch, completely exhausted, and taken to her friends.

The evidence of other girls was obtained.

There were three cases of girls
under 16; other cases of girls
above 16, besides girls who resisted and escaped from harm.

He concluded by asking the jury, if they convicted the accused
"of a sordid, abominable offence,"
not to let fear or favour deter them
from recording a proper verdict.

A number of girls then testified.

Girl's Admission.

The Hayley Morris case has been adjourned until to-morrow.

The Judge directed that both
the accused should remain in custody.

The most interesting witness
was the female prisoner's sister
who said her father was dead.

She had been in the service of the female prisoner who left home
when her father died.

The witness was not aware of her whereabouts until last Christmas when she telephoned witness to come to Pippingford Park.

She stayed two nights, and a fortnight later she took her
there by train, buying her a few clothes.

Her third visit lasted six weeks.
Nothing happened till the third visit. She had not told her sister of it.

Another sister was also there.
The witness said she told Morris before the alleged incident, that her age was 14.

Cross-examined, witness said
she never told anyone about the matter till the police saw her.

The police helped her to remember what happened.

Judge's Opinion.

An earlier cable message states:
—The trial of Hayley Morris and his wife opened sensationally at Lewes Assizes. The male defendant appeared in charge of a warder, and the woman walked briskly from a local hotel, smiling
as Press photographers snapped
her. Both pleaded not guilty.

The Judge declined to hear evidence of the woman's condition.
Replying to counsel's plea that she was not fit to stand a long trial, he said: "My opinion is that already there has been a deliberate attempt to deceive the Court, and I am not sure there has not been something worse, namely, an attempt to interfere with the course of justice." He declined to hear her counsel further.

CONCENTRATION.

MUSSOLINI'S SUGGESTION
RESENTED.

(Reuter's American Service.)

Washington, Dec. 15.

The Republican "Senator Flap-jack" lodged a resolution in the House to prohibit the concentration of foreign elements in its own settlements.

Senator Flapjack asserts the resolution is due to Mussolini's suggestion that Italian centres should be created in the United States.

$3,000,000 LOAN.

HONGKONG AND THE BOYCOTT.

FURTHER ASSISTANCE POSSIBLE.

(Reuter's Service.)

London, Dec. 14.

In the House of Commons, Mr.
A. Spoor asked for information of the purposes of the loan of £3,000,000 to the Hongkong
Government; and whether the Government had taken steps to terminate the boycott of British trade in Hongkong.

Mr. Ormsby Gore replied that the Governor had applied in September for a loan of the amount mentioned for the purpose of restoring confidence and financing trade.

The loan had saved the Colony
at a serious moment.

It is possible that if the boycott
continues and trade worsens, further assistance may have to be considered next year.

LIQUOR SMUGGLING.

THE COST OF PROHIBITION.

(Reuter's American Service.)

Washington, Dec. 15.

Senator Jones, of Washington,
has introduced a resolution, backed by the Administration, providing for the appropriation of $9,000,000 to construct ten coastguard cutters to suppress liquor smuggling.

COAL AND OIL.

BIG JAPANESE
CONCESSION.

(Reuter's Service.)

Moscow, Dec. 15.

Agreements for a concession of 45 years for coal and oil fields in North Saghalien to Japanese firms
recommended by the Japanese Government, were signed to-day
under the Japan, Soviet and Peking Treaty.

CIVIL WAR.

RIVAL FACTIONS
FIGHT.

(Reuter's Service.)

London, Dec. 15.

According to messages from Japanese sources in China, Wu Pei-fu is reported to be marching on Shanghai.

Tientsin's trenches held by General Feng Yu-hsiang, were stormed at the point of the bayonet and his forces expelled from Yangtsun by General Li Ching-hin
who is an ally of Chang Tao-lin.

GERMANY.

A SECOND DAWES
LOAN?

(Reuter's Service.)

London, Dec. 15.

The "Daily Telegraph" diplomatic correspondent states that Mr.
Parker Gilbert, Agent-General for Reparations, accompanied by Mr.
Norman, Governor of the Bank of England, have gone to the United States presumably in connection with the problem of further credits for Germany, and certain aspects of the eventual raising of a second Dawes Loan.

DISTANT TYPHOON.

The presence of a distant typhoon is given in to-day's weather report. According to the latest warning issued from Manila
at 6.30 this morning, the typhoon
is in Lat. 8° N. Long. 142° E.
(south of Guam), moving W.
Until noon to-morrow the forecast is N. or variable winds, light to moderate rain.

GOING WELL.

TELEPHONE COMPANY'S SHARE LIST.

OVERSUBSCRIPTION POSSIBLE.

Judging from the very large number of applicants at the cashier's department of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank to-day,
the end of the day may quite possibly see the over-subscription
of the subscription list for the 250,000 shares in the Hongkong
Telephone Company which opened
this morning.

The majority of the applicants
appeared to be Chinese.

If the list is oversubscribed,
applicants will have shares allotted in proportion to the oversubscription, with certain preferences
for bona fide residents and telephone subscribers. It all depends on the amount subscribed to-day
whether the list will remain open
further or for how long.

With the applications being forwarded to the offices of the Company this evening, the staff will probably work until late in sorting them out and to-morrow it should be possible to estimate the total amount of the applications.

Upon enquiry this morning of Mr. A. L. Terry, acting secretary, a "China Mail" representative was informed that at the time it was impossible to estimate the number of shares actually applied for, but there were indications that the issue was being very favourably received by the public.

A STOLEN BANGLE.

SUSPICION LEADS TO ARREST.

A HEAVY SENTENCE.

Sentence of six months' hard labour and 15 strokes of the birch
was imposed by Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy this morning on a Chinese charged with larceny of a gold-mounted bangle from a little girl.

The complainant, a Chinese married woman, stated in evidence that she was at a market stall in Eastern Street yesterday afternoon along with her family of three small children. Defendant was observed to be peeping one of the girls, whom he enticed some distance away, when he stole the bangle. The theft was noticed when the girl came back to the complainant, but the defendant
had then disappeared.

The suspicions of a Chinese detective were aroused when he met a man on the pavement who suddenly stopped in his walk,
stared at him, and walked again.
A little further down the road the detective was informed of the theft, and in a search the "suspect" was caught in a side street.
The stolen bangle was found in his pocket. These facts were given by the detective in his evidence.

His Worship imposed sentence
as stated above.

PRAYA SMASH.

CAR AND CYCLE
COLLISION.

CYCLIST INJURED.

A Chinese youth riding a push bicycle at Praya East, near Triangle Street, late last night,
lost control of his machine and steered into a motor car. The rider was thrown out of the cycle
and injured, the machine being also badly smashed.

Finding that the cyclist was rather seriously injured, the driver of the car promptly took him to the Government Civil Hospital.

Inadvertence through unacquaintance with custom was the explanation offered by Mr. H. S.
Fitzroy on behalf of the South
China Restaurant for non-compliance with requirements with regard to share allotment filing.
The time for filing allotments was extended until December 22 at the Supreme Court this morning.

RUBBER FACTS.

Malaya Behind Dutch

E. Indies.

(Reuters Service.)

London, Dec. 14.

The "Financial Times" has published a special plantation rubber supplement, including articles by experts in Malaya, and Mr.
 Ashplant, the mycologist of South
 India, who writes on bud-grafting.
 In an editorial, the journal says that it is a little disconcerting to find that the Dutch East Indies
 have made considerably more progress in bud-grafting than Malaya and elsewhere. Results hitherto have been highly encouraging and seem to show that bud-grafting
 will soon be very largely in future
 planting developments. It concludes with a tribute to the Ceylon estates as models of efficiency and good cultivation.

BELFAST LINEN.

Fortnightly Market Report.

November 4.

Flax.—There is nothing fresh to report in the Irish and Continental markets.
 Latvian Flax.—A proportion of the crop is still lying in the fields,
 and must be suffering somewhat
 from the recent cold and rainy weather. Some sales of old crop bales are reported at 23 per cent reduction. Business in new crop still confined to small lots for Nov/Dec shipment. It is thought that in the near future
 the Latvian Government may reduce prices paid to the peasant.
 Estonian Flax.—Recent bad
 weather has curtailed supplies.
 Demand however is dull.
 Soviet Flax.—Sellers remain
 still so no business to comment upon. Supplies beginning to increase.

Yarns.—There is nothing fresh
 to report, demand continuing to be for daily requirements, and prices without quotable change.
 Under these circumstances, and the relatively high price of Flax
 and Tow, there is no encouragement to start idle spindles or increase production of Mills working short time.

Weavers.—The manufacturing
 end of the trade has not improved
 its position much since our last report.

There are still small orders
 being put down over a fair range
 of goods, unfortunately at prices
 far below cost but it is hoped that this price cutting will disappear when a larger volume of business comes along.

Conditions in the trade look brighter and Manufacturers are kept very busy quoting prices
 which they hope will materialise
 in good business later.

Merchants.—Stocks are moving
 and there is an air of cheerfulness
 in several ends of the Trade.
 Handkerchiefs and fancy Linens are getting a large amount of attention as is usual at this season of the year.

Housekeeping — Goods. — Da-
 masks and Plain Linens are now being offered at figures which are considerably under normal rates.

Dress Linens.—Since last report conditions remain practically unchanged. There is still a fair number of enquiries coming forward for Dress Linens in both Plain and Fancy Weaves, and some business has been placed.
 The outlook is distinctly better than a few months ago. Linen Suitings are also enquired for.

CHINA'S "LUXURIES."

JAPAN'S TRADE

HIT.

Resolution Against Proposal.

The Government authorities
 are planning counter measures against China's proposal to impose a 20 per cent. import tariff on the so-called "luxuries" at the Customs Tariff Conference now held in Peking. The Chinese delegates cited about 15 articles to be included in the list of luxurious imports but there are some articles which are undoubtedly daily necessities.

If this high import tariff is imposed on these articles to be shipped from Japan, a telling blow will be dealt to this country's trade with China. Under the circumstances, the authorities of the Department of Commerce and Industry and Department of Finance are considering measures to curb the sphere of application of the tariff.

Such articles mentioned by the Chinese delegates as luxurious articles and exported to China
 from Japan during 1924 are listed
 as follows:

Rock sugar	Tls. 648,063
Refined sugar	17,470,764
Granulated sugar	1,819,165
Glass	155,081
Glass ware	339,374
Rubber—manufac- turers' including tire	1,037,470
Soap	1,715,347
Porcelain ware	1,041,644
Hats including silk hats	2,855,220
Umbrellas	1,055,526
Silk textiles	141,963
Rayon and mixed silk and cotton textiles	1,117,717
Blanket	150,978
Woolen cloth	178,813
Woolen textiles	143,985
Paper	4,448,722
Electric apparatus	2,170,844
Watches	560,078
Beer	449,451
Toys	635,379

While perfumed soap is to be included as a luxurious article,
 ordinary soap must be excluded from it. The 20 per cent. tariff is to be imposed only on the high priced porcelain ware, gold or platinum watches, and luxurious marine products such as whale
 and dolphin fins used by luxurious Chinese people.

The Inter-Chamber of Commerce of Japan has adopted a resolution against China's proposal
 for the imposition of 20 per cent.
 tariff on the so-called luxurious
 articles and will submit it to Mr.
 Hiroki, Japan's chief envoy to the Conference, and Foreign Office.

The resolution is as follows:
 "The sphere of luxurious articles
 for the imposition of 20 per cent.
 tariff, which was proposed by the Chinese delegation at the Custom Tariff Conference, is very extensive and includes a large number of articles. If the bill is adopted, it will hurt seriously Japan's trade with China in future. It is hoped that you make all efforts to limit the sphere to the really high-class
 articles only."

Manchester Market Report.

November 11.

Buyers have been very reluctant to place orders during the past week, state Messrs. J. F.
 Hutton & Co., Ltd. An uneasy
 feeling prevailed so that comparatively little business has been done. A stabiliser is required and it was generally expected that the Bureau report would help in this direction. Instead of pacify-ing the uneasy elements of the market, a further disturbing factor has been introduced by way of another surprise. The general opinion was that the forecast of 15,226,000 bales was about the limit and only required a little time for the market to settle down to the fact, and business of some bulk would commence to spread.
 The opinion was backed up by the fact that for the first time
 as a result of protest, the authorities caused the Bureau figures of the 26th October to be checked,
 and they were found to be correct. Nevertheless we have the probable yield estimate increased to 15,386,000 bales and ginnings
 at November 1st 11,199,000 bales
 against 9,250,000 on October 17th.
 Although the estimated increase
 is not a great deal, it has succeeded in reducing spot by about 1/4 per lb. This has again destroyed
 what little confidence was developing and is to be regretted as undoubtedly there is a lot of business

waiting. It is worthy of note that the drop in cotton has not taken the raw material to the level of just over a week ago, this naturally has renewed the hesi-
 tancy amongst potential buyers,
 as they feel that the bottom may not have been reached. Enquiry during the past week has been fairly frequent and some business is reported, but not at all on the scale we have been expecting.
 Very little has gone through for China, and we are still without news as to when the auctions will be resumed. Some of the smaller markets have done fairly well,
 sales for the Home trade have been steady. Spinners of American counts do more trade if they would yield a little more, but they
 as a whole are hanging on for better prices. Egyptian has been affected by the drop in American.
 Notwithstanding all these disturbing features, it is not all certain that there is anything to be gained by waiting, both as regards yarn and cloth. Prices today are generally about the same as before the report.

Rubber exports of the Philippine Islands continue to increase,
 according to figures from the bureau of forestry, there being 97,905 kilos, valued at P110,250, exported to the United States in 1924, as against 39,049 kilos
 valued at P46,073 in 1923.

NOW I WONDER WHO THAT CAN BE!

Very often this is your first thought when you receive a message to call up such and such a telephone number. You can find out easily from the Telephone Handbook which gives the numbers in the numerical order. You simply turn the pages, find the number, and see who it is that has been calling you.

The Telephone Handbook can be obtained from the publishers,
 No. 5, Wyndham Street, price one dollar.

FIVE YEARS.

ADDED TO LONDONERS' LIVES.

DOCTOR TO 4,500,000 PEOPLE.

London will lose, by his retirement in a few months, the services of Sir William Hamer, chief medical officer of health to the county council, since 1912. For thirteen years he has been solely responsible for the administration of countless Government Acts and regulations, succeeding Sir Shirley Murphy, who laid the foundations for a healthier London.

During Sir William's régime the expectation of life of the Londoner has been increased by at least five years, infant mortality has decreased enormously, and the capital is altogether healthier and happier.

VITAL STATISTICS.
Sir William has been responsible for the health of about four and a half million people. Every school child in the council area has come under his care; every case of infectious disease and the meaning of the birth, marriage and death figures have been carefully scrutinized by his department. In 1912, the death rate in London was 13.6 per thousand; last year it was 12.2, after a year, 1923, in which it was the lowest on record; 11.4. In 1912, the birth rate was 24.5; in 1924, 18.6. Though people are living longer the tendency in London is a diminishing birth rate; during the past four years the number of births has declined, on an average, about 4,800 yearly, though the marriage rate has remained much the same.

The health of London children, however, is noticeably far better. Rickets is much less prevalent now than it was.

When doctors and nurses first began to visit the elementary schools in 1902, the conditions, Sir William has said, were indescribable. Owing to the rigorous methods of school inspection employed to-day figures show an increase in certain childish complaints; but it must be remembered that most of these cases are dealt with and cured, and a healthier citizen is the ultimate result. In 1912 nearly 260,000 children were examined, and nearly 28,000 treated; in 1924, 412,734 inspections were made and 74,215 children treated.

BETTER CHANCES.
The main result of all this beneficent work has been that Sir William has seen the London child in all conditions of poverty and hardship gradually being given a better chance of life as an adult. Between 1911 and 1914 infant mortality per thousand births was 108; last year it was 69. There is to-day a greater chance of a youth or girl living till fifty than there ever was before—and if they live to that age the greater dangers seem to be cancer and influenza.

It is this average longer life which accounts, in recent years, for the increased deaths from cancer. In 1912 there were 5,007 deaths; last year 6,483 people succumbed.

On the other hand, deaths from infectious diseases are fewer, and epidemics are now understood and dealt with adequately. Sir William's great contribution to public health has been the study of epidemics of all kinds, and London's comparative immunity from the devastating minor plagues of former days is minor plagues of former days is due to his unremitting work. Scarlet fever has lost its terrors, and diphtheria is now thoroughly understood.

HOUSING.
In addition to this care for the health of young Londoners Sir William has been responsible for sewage, sanitation, lodging-houses, housing conditions, midwives, bacteriological research, and a host of other activities. He is leaving a healthier capital with much yet to be done.

The medical knowledge of the world is applied to London's problems, and it is quite likely that at no far distant date one of Sir William's successors, building on the work done in these last thirteen years, may see the citizens of London attaining, as a normal achievement, the allotted three score years and ten.

"KING OF KINGS."

"Have you seen the Shah?" was the theme of one of those ephemeral songs that grip the senses from time to time. The Music Hall "poet" added "smoking his cigar" and the couplet helped in the visualisation of the Persian potentate who at that time was about to visit England. Events have moved slowly but surely in Persia, until now a new ruler reigns in place of the old—a young man who, at the age of 16, became Persia's ruler, the "King of Kings," and now, under thirty is a spendthrift exile in Paris, squandering his time and the wealth that has been his by right of his Kingship, in what is popularly known as "riotous living." One of the most exclusive monarchies on earth now comes to a private soldier in a Cossack regiment garrisoned in Persia. Little sympathy seems to be forthcoming for the ex-Shah. He is blamed for the present situation. Two years ago he left Persia to regale himself with the delights of Paris, and there he has been spending lavishly of the money that has been wrung from the Persian people. The "iron-willed" soldier who has succeeded him is fighting for the unification of his country. Already reforms of various kinds are to be laid to his credit. Weights and measures have been simplified; the causes of sanitation, public charity and education have been furthered and he has performed a signal service in initiating a system of orderly accounting in the State finances. Here then seems indeed a "King of Kings" likely to serve to the full the country over which he is to rule. Persia has loomed in politics for very many years, whilst she has been the centre of conflicting international forces, thanks to the almost embarrassing abundance of oil within her boundaries. Britain and Russia have both been interested in the country. The British sphere in the South, includes access to the Persian Gulf; the Russian is in the north, including a territory that is approximately twice the extent of the British. The Soviets renounced the agreement of 1907 which gave their country rights in the north, though they have since laid claim to the territory and have bent every effort to establishing their influence in an effort to drive out the British. Whether the present appointment by the Constituent Assembly will be an encouragement to the Soviets to further their "doctrine," remains to be seen. The personality of the present ruler seems to suggest that no "Red" inroads will be tolerated, whilst he is helped somewhat by the fact that the nations of the West are bound, by international commitments entered into since the war, to observe the country's integrity. Such "movements," as the one that has taken place in Persia demonstrate anew the vital necessity of Europe setting its own house in order, bringing peace to its troubled concerns, the better to face whatever consequences may arise from the progressive and other movements taking place in other parts of the world. The question of opium is but another of the things associated with Persia, for only this month has the Council of the League of Nations approved the proposal to despatch a commission of enquiry to the country on the subject of the cultivation of opium. The first act of King Pahlevi, the name assumed by Reza Khan, was to order the liberation of all political prisoners, grant an amnesty to the former Shah, members of the late dynastic family, and members of the royal household, who will be pensioned. The price of bread has been reduced through a Government subsidy. Judging from these acts, the King has started well and given evidence of a desire to advance Persia materially and to give this once remnant of a mighty empire a stable Government.

Hongkong Stamps.

Arriving in the Colony in sealed boxes and put down in the accounts at the value of their cost of production, Hongkong's postage stamps are then taken charge of by the Treasury and assume the value of their face bearing. They thus jump in value some two hundred times as they are purchased through the Crown agents on a sliding scale, (according to quantity) at something like sixpence a thousand. They arrive in boxes of 500 sheets, in the case of ordinary stamps, each sheet containing 240 stamps. This number is obviously more convenient where the currency in question is pounds and the value of stamps, pence or half pence, but for places where dollars and cents are in use it occasions considerable difficulty in accounting. Sets of 100 are obviously more desirable where the currencies are on a decimal system. It was these considerations which led the Hongkong postal authorities when there was occasion two years ago to have made a special plate for "postage due" stamps, to have it cast in the 100-set form. Although this has proved a considerable help it is doubtful whether the Crown Agents will be requested to go to the expense of changing all the stamp plates for Hongkong until such change as may be considered necessary in general design or by reason of change in the reigning sovereign, for stamps are done for the whole of the Empire in practically the same operation and with the same plates. There is, however, no longer the impediment that there was at one time to any change. Until comparatively recent times the paper supplied for the use of Colonies by the Crown agents had the watermarks so arranged as to give one complete watermark to each stamp but with the present watermarked paper there is no need to make the plates for dollar Colonies and protected States exactly the same as for the pence places. The occasion of an appeal to Governors of British Colonies for stamps to be sold in aid of charity was made the occasion of an article in a London journal in which the methods of stamp production were reviewed and from this it would appear that there is no logical reason why in the case of those Colonies where it would be such an obvious advantage for postal accountancy, stamps should not be produced in 50's and 100's. It seems a comparatively small matter, hardly worth while cavilling over, but it is interesting in that it illustrates how slowly the official mind changes where matters which are looked upon as those of routine are concerned.

MOTOR FATALITY.

DEATH INQUIRY VERDICT.

A PURE ACCIDENT.

The death of a Chinese youth from injuries received when he was knocked down by a taxicab at Wanchai on November 22 was the subject of an inquiry before a coroner and jury at the Central Magistracy yesterday.

Medical evidence showed that death was due to haemorrhage and shock following a rupture of the spleen.

The taxi driver's evidence, which was corroborated by another driver riding on the vehicle at the time of the accident, was that the deceased jumped from a tram-car coming from the opposite direction and got in front of his car when only two paces away. Brakes were applied, but it was too late.

A verdict of accidental death was returned by the jury.

THEFT CHARGE.

SHOP MANAGER ALLEGES CONSPIRACY.

STORY OF A RANSOM.

At a further hearing at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday of a case in which a Chinese rice shop manager was charged with the larceny of $370 belonging to the firm, it was alleged by the defendant through his solicitor, Mr. L. D. Turner, that there had been a quarrel between the defendant and the complainant (a woman partner) when the latter was asked for repayment of money paid as ransom for rescuing her two children from the hands of pirates. A conspiracy was therefore alleged in the present prosecution by the complainant, who was under an obligation to the defendant.

The case was again adjourned.

SHREDS AND PATCHES.

Are we ever to see this in Hongkong?—I passed a funeral leaving St. Martin's in the fields a few days ago, says a London writer. How different it was from the funerals of my youth. There were no nodding plumes; there was not one black horse; and there were no white flowers.

It was all done by motor-car; and nearly all the blossoms of which the wreaths were made were brown; they were glorious chrysanthemums of golden-brown leaves.

I did not notice one sickly lily, with an odour that my youth makes me associate always with death.

And there was no crape! The words "funeral" scarcely apply nowadays. The motor-car funeral does not block the traffic; it passes sedately, smoothly, but not at a snail's pace.

Afternoon tea is a curious meal. In England, the land of its birth, it is without honour; people drink it standing up, sitting down, or walking about—at a table, at a desk, or off the corner of the mantelpiece; sometimes it is merely imbibed from a thermos flask in the back office. No Englishman or Scotsman really cares where or how he has his tea, so long as he gets it. But when Tea crosses the Ocean and becomes an imported custom, it is invested with a strange and unseemly pomp. Foreigners have missed the point of Tea, which is that it is above all things a hugger-mugger affair. Because the Englishman would rather perish than go without it, the Frenchman and American conclude that some mystic importance attaches to the liquid—something that goes down to the roots of the British constitution—something which demands libations, and possibly an incantation or two. So the Frenchman puts on his best clothes to drink it, and calls it The Five O'Clock. In America—America proper, west of the Alleghenies—if your hostess, in the kindness of heart, sets out to prepare you a cup, she does so with the preoccupied solemnity of a chemist making up a prescription or an astrologer compounding a love-potion; and the resulting concoction is very much what you would expect.

Ian Hay, who wrote the above, should come to Hongkong to extend his studies in the mystic rites of afternoon tea. Sufficient to say that if you see a married man wending his way home fairly late in the evening, it will be a good guess to suggest his wife has either been attending an afternoon tea party, or is holding one!

"Speaking of Epitaphs," remarks a genial soul, "how does this one strike you? 'Is on a tombstone at Potterne, Wiltshire, England: Here lies Mary, the wife of John Ford. We hope her soul is gone to the Lord. But if for Hell she has changed her life She had better be there than be John Ford's wife.' Very warm."

MEDIAEVAL SURGERY.

In the October number of the "Nineteenth Century" Dr. G. D. Hindley describes the history of a very interesting flicker of light towards the end of what are often known as the Dark Ages, writes the "Manchester Guardian." He tells how two surgeons, master and pupil, in the last half of the thirteenth century and the beginning of the fourteenth broke away from the teaching of Galen and began to heal wounds by a method which approached quite closely to the antiseptic surgery taught by Lister. But except for some experiments made by Paracelsus two hundred years later the light failed with the deaths of Theodoric and his follower Henri de Mondeville (who died in 1320), and on this point surgery slipped back into its own dark ages, which lasted beyond the middle of the nineteenth century. All the ancient doctors and surgeons worked on the theory that the suppuration of a wound was a natural process (as, unfortunately, it is) and that it was a necessary stage of healing. From this beginning, and from Galen onwards, they advanced to the disastrous argument that suppuration was a thing to be encouraged; and encourage it they did, by probing the wound and filling it with packings that were directly designed to produce pus and inflammation. Theodoric instead began to cleanse the wound, carefully avoiding any enlargement of it, to close it as soon as possible, and to dress it freely with warm wine in place of the greasy and septic dressings which had been in use for centuries. As Dr. Hindley points out, the warm wine would be as near to a genuine antiseptic as could be got in those early days, and the proof of the value of Theodoric's treatment lay in the fact that his patients prospered under it. Then De Mondeville, a body surgeon to the King of France, applied the same method and argued copiously in its defence, even venturing upon the observation that "God did not exhaust all His creative power when He made Galen." But there was no real body of theory behind his arguments; it was impossible that he should have any foreknowledge of bacterial infection. Lister could convince the world because he worked from the basis of Pasteur's discoveries on the nature of microbes. In the end Theodoric and De Mondeville could point to nothing except that their practice worked, and when they died the medical world, lost in its admiration for Galen and suppuration, declined to remember that their methods had ever worked at all. It had been a promising glimmer, and it might have saved more than five hundred years of senseless pain in the treatment of the injured and sick. But the clock stopped just when it had been started, and the world had to wait for Lister to rewind it in the sixties of the last century.

Silhouettes.

Someone, it would seem, has taken a pair of scissors, with very fine, very sharp blades, and cut out in black paper the roof of an old house with twisty chimneys, a weather vane with a flying fox on the top, and a clump of trees. The trees must have required most especial artistry, for some of the little branches have separated themselves from the rest of the black mass and are but frail threads against the moonlit sky. The moon is hidden behind the curve of the roof. It must be only just out of sight, for the light is so intense as to absorb, here and there, even the blackness of the twisty chimneys, and the flying fox appears to be swaying on his giddy perch on the weather vane. Moonlight sets imagination a-pining. There is in it nothing of the calm glow of sunset. The silhouettes of sunset time are warm and peaceful, but moonlight silhouettes are as thin as fanciful, as the flight of a bat or a shadow on a windowpane.

Here, we conclude, is an old house since it is, unmistakably, possessed of an old roof. An old house then with inmates—for something which we take to be smoke is hanging above one of the chimney stacks, a veiled suggestion of haze against the sky. All the activities of a home are going on in that thin blackness, in that paper-like picture, and never so much as a sign to help us in our imaginings, never so much as a sound. Can sounds, then, be silhouetted too?

There are days of strong sunshine when the most minute atom of a thing stands up and makes of itself an important object in bold relief; when every sound and scent and sensation is intensified; days too defined and outspoken to lend themselves to the exercise of fancy, honest, kindly, open-hearted days, harbouring no secrets, and abundant in blessings. And then the sun rests, and twilight follows, and things become thin and very close together; and the fine sharp scissors come out, and silhouettes grow against the new sky, and a mighty world of imagination unfolds.

But, like an explosion beyond the old roof, the moon has risen and caught at the twisty stacks, has engulfed the trees and the flying fox, and the silhouette has gone. Instead a few yellow windows peer out of the darkness, a shadow figure unharnesses a horse from a cart in the roadway, and the click of the shafts is heard as they meet with the ground, followed by the tramp of hoofs down the track to the stables. Sounds are free once more.

How much of the art of the world, we wonder, has been made in the silhouette time before the moon is high?

WEDDING BELLS.

CEREMONY IN FAR-OFF YUNNANFU.

BRITISH COUPLE MARRIED.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Yunnanfu, Dec. 8.
A very interesting ceremony took place in the capital on December 1, when Dr. Cyril J. Austin, son of the late Mr. Austin and Mrs. Austin, of Exeter, and Miss Alice A. L. Barwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Barwick, of South Moulton, Devon, were united in the bonds of Holy Matrimony.

The bride and bridegroom are both missionaries of the United Methodist Mission, and have been located in Chootung, a prosperous city in the north of the province, to which they intend returning to carry on the work which is so dear to them amongst the Chinese.

The marriage took place at the residence of the Rev. C. N. Mylne, who also conducted the service, and the drawing room was tastefully decorated for the occasion with bamboos and flowers, presenting a very pleasing spectacle. The weather was all that could be desired, the sun shedding beneficent rays upon the assembled company.

A goodly number of friends were present for the occasion, amongst whom were the British Consul-General (who unfortunately was late in arriving, having been detained by important business) and the American Consul and his wife.

The bride looked very charming in a gown of white crepe-de-chine, trimmed with silver lace, and a tulle veil embroidered with silk braid, held in place with rosebuds. She carried a spray-bouquet of dark red roses, and was attended by two pretty little bridesmaids, the Misses Viola and Vivienne Mylne, dressed in pink flowered silk, and carrying baskets of roses similar to those carried by the bride.

After the ceremony (which had been preceded by the civil ceremony at the British Consulate), photos were taken, and then a reception was held during which refreshments were served. Mrs. Mylne was hostess, to whom the best thanks of the company are due for all the arrangements which were perfectly carried out, even to the provision of a splendid wedding cake.

The honeymoon is to be spent in Hongkong, whither the happy couple departed on Wednesday morning, December 2, by the early train, several friends being present at the station to wish them "bon voyage."

The good wishes of the whole community follow them, which are emphasized by the fact that this wedding was planned for September, but has had to be delayed owing to the disturbed conditions prevailing in this province, so that the journey could not be undertaken earlier.

We look forward to the return of Dr. and Mrs. Austin to the capital, where they intend spending Christmas.

WORLD PEACE.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

(Reuter's Service.)

Geneva, December 14.
The League Council has adopted the report of the sub-committee, consisting of Sir Austen Chamberlain, M. Hermans and Baron Ischi, endorsing the findings of the Runcie Commission on the Greco-Bulgarian dispute. Sir Austen, as rapporteur, reading the report, said the invasion of Bulgarian territory was unjustified. Greece acted without provocation but it was not necessary, in order to re-occupy a little post and overcome a few men, to undertake operations over twenty kilometres. An indemnity of thirty million levas should be paid within two months.

The bulk of the journalists on leaving the hall at the conclusion of the Greco-Bulgarian affair, were hastily recalled to hear a speech by Sir Austen Chamberlain not scheduled on the agenda. He said, in handing over the Locarno agreement for deposit in the archives of the League, that the Powers concerned intended to inaugurate a new phase in their relations, carefully avoiding provocation or offence to others, and establishing peace between themselves, thus helping to stabilise the peace of the world and give rest and confidence to other nations.

There is a story—a chestnut, of course—of a man who entered a well-known Anglers' Inn and saw, preserved in a case on the walls, a monster salmon—we hesitate to mention its weight. He looked at it for a while, and then said, solemnly: "The man who caught that fish was a liar."

WAR UP NORTH.

"CHRISTIAN GENERAL" NOW LOSING.

THE TRAIN INCIDENT.

(Reuter's Service.)

Peking, December 13.

With regard to the international train which was caught in the battle at Yangtsun, (reported yesterday), the passengers, including women and children, had to take refuge under the carriages. On board the train were nine Britishers, including Colonel and Mrs. Haslehurst, twenty Americans, some prominent Japanese and also four League of Nations Commissioners who are visiting Manchuria in connection with plague prevention.

It appears that a Kuomintang armoured train followed the international train to Yangtsun where it landed a thousand infantry, while artillery began shelling Gen. Li Ching-shan's forces across the river.

Tientsin, December 14.

Latest reports from Peitsang indicate that, though outnumbered, Li Ching-shan's troops are holding their own and have even advanced a few miles toward Yangtsun.

Li Ching-shan's advance is confirmed. He has driven out Feng Yu-shang's troops from Yangtsun. After an all-day artillery battle, his troops took Feng's trenches at the bayonet point.

Li states that southern Chihli is freed from the Kuomintang menace. He is able to obtain ammunition from Tientsin which, a week ago, was surrounded by the Kuomintang troops. He also states that he is not helped by Chang Tso-lin and has no understanding with him, but Wu Pei-fu has agreed to defend southern Chihli in the event of the Kuomintang troops advancing from Honan again.

The negotiations have vigorously proceeded against this breach of the Boxer Protocol. It is understood that arrangements are being made to despatch a relief train from Tientsin.

The Japanese on board the train included Mr. Mochizuki, the leader of the Kensei party and Mr. Taniyama, Parliamentary Under-Secretary for the Navy.

Peking, December 14.

The international train returned to Peking this evening all safe.

OTHER EVENTS.

Tokyo, December 13.

An "Asahi" message from Mukden states that Gen. Kuo Sung-ling's forces have entered Newchwang without fighting. Japanese police have been despatched for the protection of residents.

Tokyo, December 14.

The Navy is probably sending one or two destroyers from Port Arthur to Tientsin with food and clothing for Japanese nationals.

While the Government spokesman admits a battle is imminent near Mukden, it is insisted that Chang Tso-lin's days are numbered and his fall is expected momentarily.

Japanese sources report that Wu Pei-fu is marching on Shanghai.

DEBT HOPES.

GERMANY UNDER DAWES PLAN.

(Reuter's Service.)

London, December 14.

The report of Mr. Parker Gilbert, Agent General of German Reparation payments, on the first year's working of the Dawes Plan, shows that the plan has realised its objects in balancing the German budget and stabilising the German currency.

Full provision is made for a milliard gold marks, which it is estimated Germany will be able to pay the first year, and although some money has not been handed over, the balance is at the disposal of the Agent General, who pays a tribute to the manner in which the Germans have co-operated in the work.

The report expresses the opinion that Germany, for some time to come, must rely on long credits from abroad, but that the prospects for a peaceful reconstruction of Europe are hopeful, although Germany has still many difficulties to overcome.

"Pas des Fleurs" (by request), remarks Father, reading from the seaside concert programme.

"Do you know what that means, Ethel?" After a moment's pause Ethel, suddenly inspired by the parenthetical "by request," responds brightly: "Of course, Dad, it means no flowers!"

NEW JACKY FISHERS IN CHINA.

ATTEMPT ON OFFICIAL.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Yunnanfu, Dec. 8.

Interesting events in the capital of the province are pending, owing to developments which have taken place of late.

A short time ago, eight of the leading officials of the local government received letters of complaint accompanied by threats from the officers of the army, and the military secretaries.

The complaint was that whereas they had done all the fighting and thereby kept those here in safety, on their return, they not only did not receive pay, but found that all the jobs worth having had been given to the stay-at-homes and their relatives and friends.

The threat was that unless justice was done within a certain time, a limit to which was set, the officers would take the law into their own hands, and deal out justice to those in office, in a manner which would teach others not to offend in like manner.

The Secretary of Finance, Mr. Tung, resigned at once, without waiting to see the threat carried out, but Mr. Beh, private secretary to the Governor, and Minister of Wines and Tobacco, held on, and was attacked, and seriously wounded, being stabbed in more than one place.

Although there is a rumour that he has since died, this is not confirmed. The office of Finance Secretary has not yet been filled.

The time limit has now been extended by ten days to give the officials time to decide what they will do, and as this limit will expire in about eight days, we are waiting to see what will happen.

It looks as if there must be improvement since things could not very well be worse.

There are persistent reports that General Fan Shek-sang has not gone to Canton, but is still in the neighbourhood of K'ai-hwa.

Hilda Ferguson, former stage beauty, is suing Dr. R. B. Ugate for a divorce. She claims he locked up most of her clothes.

"TAKE THEM OFF!"

OXFORD "BAGS" OBJECTED TO.

Mr. Maurice L. Jacks, M.A., headmaster of Mill Hill School, when presiding at the old boys' dinner, told an amusing story about Oxford "bags."

"Take off those trousers," roared the headmaster at one big English public school, when two boys appeared at roll call, dressed in "bags." The boys prepared, obediently, to leave the room, but the headmaster shouted: "Did you hear what I said? Take them off!"

The boys obeyed, before the entire school, and the headmaster added: "Now carry those trousers to my study and wait there as you are till I come!"

"Gerald, what train does the man next door catch to town?" "This one after mine." "If he catches the train after yours, how do you know what train he catches?" "Because that's the one I catch."

CAPTAIN BLOOD.

TO-DAY'S BIG QUEEN'S PICTURE.

"SEA HAWK" ECLIPSED.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Yunnanfu, Dec. 8.

Swift upon the folded reels of "The Sea Hawk" comes another Sabatini film. The same screen that saw the much liked sixteenth century story of buccaneers and sea battles, now throws back a very similar narrative set a century later in the time when men went about with long festoons or clean-cut curls draped about their necks.

The story of "Captain Blood" opens during the battle of Sedgemoor, when the Duke of Monmouth was hot after the throne of James II; and in the midst of the alarms and excursions incidental thereto, Peter Blood, a young Irishman, is arrested by His Majesty's redcoats, accused of treason, and sent to the West Indies as a slave.

He leads his fellow bondsmen to the capture of a Spanish frigate during a raid on Bridgetown, and falls into all manner of stirring adventure, both afloat and ashore, coming out victorious in each and every enterprise, just as all good Sabatini heroes always do. Perhaps no period in history makes such demands upon the wardrobe mistresses as the over-dressed days of the Stuarts.

Cascades of curls for men, and women, huge felt hats, brimming over with full-fashioned plumes, endless coats and vests and capes belted, brodered and buckled enormous skirts and mantles ruffled and flounced, envelop the characters in this picture almost to the point of extinction. J. Warren Kerrigan succeeds in making Captain Blood a telling figure. The entire cast, which is large, is also very capable.

Where the newest Sabatini picture specially scores is in its general liveliness of plot and in its nautical investiture. There is much stirring action aboard full-rigged frigates of the line, culminating in an impressive naval engagement with quantities of smoke and powder. While the characters are not as vigorously defined as in "The Sea Hawk," there is less monotony of plot development. Right from the start, "Captain Blood" is an intelligently contrived costume picture of the conventional order, generally interesting and at times an absorbing spectacle.

QUEEN IN MOSQUE.

BEGUM OF BHOPAL AT WORKING SERVICE.

VEILED ORATOR.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Yunnanfu, Dec. 8.

Moslems from all over the country met at Woking when the Begum of Bhopal visited the mosque which was erected by her mother, and which the Begum herself now maintains.

The Begum motored from London, accompanied by her son and granddaughter, and after the formal reception attended a special service in the mosque, which she entered with bare feet.

Subsequently she was presented with an address of welcome by Lord Headley, president of the British Moslem Society, who referred to the exemplary rule of the Begum of Bhopal, a State which remained steadfast to British rule and where discontent was unknown.

The Begum, who was heavily veiled, replied in her native tongue. She said that her allegiance to her King and Sovereign was an integral part of her religion, and she was proud to belong to the British Empire, which respected equally all forms of belief.

Bouquets and a picture of the mosque were presented to the Begum by British Moslems, and her Highness afterwards lunched in a marquee with the other visitors.

Says the "Manchester Guardian":—A poor harassed-looking woman appeared at one of our Council schools dragging a very small but very dirty child which she implored the headmistress to admit. The latter demurred on the ground that the youngster was not even three years old. "You'd better let 'im in," said the woman; "it's 'im what kicks tin cans about North Street every day." And with memories of this distracting nuisance outside the school windows the teacher surrendered.

"Your husband is suffering," said the doctor, "from syncopeated heart."

Much impressed, the pair returned home and consulted the dictionary. When they read:—"Syncopeated—moving quickly from bar to bar," their already high opinion of the doctor became a matter of awe.

Ceylon's Poppy Day collection this year amounted to £8,000, which is nearly three times the amount collected last year. Malaya topped the list last year with £5,806.10.6. Kedah's Poppy Day effort has resulted in £3,056.56 being raised for Earl Haig's Fund.

Chinese audiences are becoming just as critical of their operas as Americans are of theirs, according to Miss Mon Sue Fawn, who is on the way from Canton to San Francisco to play the leading role in a Chinese opera company. She was selected from among 500 contestants in Canton.

Notice is given that the "Shao-hing" Week Mark Buoy marking the position of the "Shao-hing" wreck, which lies clear of the fairway in the South Channel Entrance to the Yangtze River, has been withdrawn. Chart affected: Marine Department Chart No. 11.

A newspaper published in the provincial town of Ufa, Russia recently emerged into the limelight of publicity as a result of employing somewhat too vivid advertising methods. A Communist satirical magazine called Crocodile is published in Moscow; and the Ufa newspaper, in an effort to beat up subscriptions for the Crocodile, announced that a real crocodile had escaped from the Moscow Zoo and was making its way along the Volga and Kama Rivers to Ufa. Every day the newspaper published fresh details about the progress of the river monster. The credulous peasants of the surrounding countryside became terrified. They locked up their houses, and placed chickens on the road as propitiatory offerings for the dreaded crocodile. The newspaper finally disclosed the hoax; but it is likely that the peasants of this region will shiver at the mention of the word crocodile for many months.

The blind girls of the C.M.S. Blind Home, Kowloon City, are to give a Carol Singing entertainment on Monday next at 2.30 p.m.

The Government organ advocates the adoption of Sunday, instead of Friday, as the day of rest in Turkey. The idea is to bring Turkey in line with the Western powers and also avoid the loss of two days weekly, as both Friday and Sunday have been rest days.

Resolutions calling for a re-designation of "Armistice Day" as "Wilson Day" have been adopted by the Downtown Chamber of Commerce of New York. Chambers of Commerce throughout the country, chapters of the American Legion and other bodies will be asked to join in a movement to lay the request before Congress for official action.

A pretty custom was recently exemplified in Moscow when everyone seemed to be buying and wearing flowers. This was in honour of the fabled birthday of the goddess of wisdom (Sofia) and her three daughters, Faith, Hope and Charity (Vera, Nadyezhda and Lubov). All these names are very popular in Russia; and all the Sofias, Veras, Nadyezhdas and Lubovs were supposed to put on flowers in honour of the day.

Col. Vernon Willey, president of the British Federation of Industries, deserves commendation for his effort to combat the fallacy, which he has said he found strongly rooted in the United States, that Great Britain is "down and out." "This belief," he declared on returning to England from America, "is doing our interests much harm." And he added that the average American seems to believe that the old British spirit of initiative and the British capacity to battle against difficulties have been lost. Well, what if he does, provided it is not a fact. It was an eighteenth century playwright who made one of his characters say that the people of England are never so happy as when you tell them they are ruined!

Some of the more prosperous inhabitants of Moscow are escaping the restrictions of the acute housing shortage by forming co-operative building associations, and building new houses on their own initiative. They are entitled to hold these houses on very long term leases, which practically assure a life tenure, and they are exempted from the very severe rationing of rooming space which practically confines the average Moscow family to a single room.

Sea-going vessels touching at American ports during the fiscal year ending June 30, carried near 1,550,000 passengers. The research bureau of the shipping board, in making public the figures of arrivals and departures, said more than 200,000 travelled first class, 316,000 second class and 332,000 third class. The relatively low figure for third class passengers was ascribed to decrease in immigration. More than 400,000 travelled between the United States and Canada.

One of London's picturesque figures, the "Muffin Man" with a hand-bell, soon will be extinct. The "profession" has been invaded by woman, trim, neat and quick. The muffin man carries his head and covered board balanced on his head and tinkles a bell to attract customers. The modern sales persons are mostly young women with neat uniforms and aprons. They carry baskets on their arms in the same way that "Nell of old Drury" carried her basket of oranges.

Paris, which is perpetually bawling, the congestion of its traffic, has been rather cheered by the visit of Frank Elliot, the assistant commissioner of the London police, who came to study the Paris traffic regulations. The Paris public has believed that these things are managed better in London. But now London comes to Paris to take lessons. The Paris congestion will not be lessened by the knowledge that London, too, is congested, but somehow Parisians find some consolation in the admission.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. F. J. Ling of the P.W.D. left for Home in the Morea on Saturday.

Mr. J. R. Way of the Hongkong Electric Co., Ltd., and Mrs. Way, returned to the Colony on Sunday.

The Rev. E. T. Leader of the Church Missionary Society, Pak-hoi Station, left for Home on Saturday by the Morea.

Mr. Eric Rice, formerly Private Secretary to Sir R. E. Stubbs, and now Special Commissioner of the Overseas League, will visit Singapore (care of Messrs. T. Cook & Son till December 20th) and Hongkong (care of Messrs. T. Cook & Son till January 15th). It is hoped that his second world-tour will be as great a success as his first.

More than thirty years ago W. S. Clark, eighty, a Civil War veteran, made a vow he would not have his hair cut until William Jennings Bryan was in the President's chair. The recent death of the Commoner, however, weakened his resolve and the barber cut the hair that hung about Mr. Clark's waist. For years Mr. Clark was a picturesque personage at G. A. R. national encampments, his keen eyes and distinguished appearance leading many to mistake him for Buffalo Bill.

Scores of men in London were showing last week their gold Sandow watches, says a London writer. When the strong man opened his cocoa works in South London he gave a lunch, at which, in front of every plate, there was a small cardboard box, which, he said, was not to be opened. Suddenly, during the speeches, the boxes all rang with sound at the same time. Each one when opened was seen to contain a gold alarm watch, which went off at any time fixed. They had all been set for the moment of Sandow's rising to his feet. To the last days of his handsome life Sandow was strong. I remember his former publicity manager, deploring to me the fact that the day before, when his car had gone into a ditch on the way to Brighton, Sandow insisted on pulling it out himself. "He was wasting his strength," said my friend. "There wasn't a newspaper photographer within miles. Fancy risking hurting yourself for nothing!"

Amongst those who left yesterday by the "City of Baroda" for Plymouth, were Major and Mrs. Milner-Jones and family, Captain A. E. Watts and Captain Oxspring.

This year's youngest mayoress is Miss Sylvia Densham, who, only 15, and still at school, is entering on her second year of office, her father being re-elected mayor of Kingston-on-Thames.

Pavlova and her company appeared at the Grand Theatre, Birmingham, last month, under a warning that bare legs and even bare feet on the stage were prohibited by the magistrates.

Honours conferred by the King on the occasion of the visit of the Prince of Wales to South Africa include:—Vice-Admiral Sir Lionel Halsey, Comptroller of H.R.H., K.C.M.G., Major the Hon. Piers Walter Leigh, Querry, C.M.G., Lieut.-Col. Sir John Robert Chancellor, Governor of Southern Rhodesia, Knight Grand Cross Victorian Order, Sir Geoffrey Thomas, private secretary, Knight Commander Victorian Order.

Claudia Dell was awarded the silver cup as "Miss Apple of 1925."

Mr. G. H. Elliott left for the north in the Macedonia.

Mr. R. H. Pinhorn, head master of the Penang Free School, who is in England on leave, has been advised medically not to return to the tropics, and has retired. He counts twenty years service in Penang.

Having rung a peal at St. Paul's Cathedral Edward Horrex, 87, bell-ringer, of Stockwell, died of syncope, due to bronchitis. "A wonderful old chap, bell-ringing at his age," was the Brixton Coroner's comment.

The literary output of Sir Harry Lauder is not confined to the words of his songs; and now that he is back to Britain after his latest tour of the world, he may complete the three-act play that he began some years ago. It gives a picture of Scottish life, in which there are no renegade sarsaparilla-sipping Caledonians with Oxford accents and Oxford bags.

"Never again!" fervently, and with an added "No!" for emphasis, is the way Rudolph Valentino, movie sheik and avowed cynosure of feminine eyes, feels about another marriage if there is no reconciliation with the present Mrs. Valentino, the former Winifred Hudnut. All he knows about whether he will still be a married man a few months hence is that he wants Mrs. Valentino to be happy. "I do not know what Mrs. Valentino wishes to do," he said, shortly after arriving from Chicago. "But all I wish to do is oblige her. I shall await developments and try to keep my sense of humour."

Queen Mary famous for her domesticity, shows how she manages the various palaces with but very few changes of maid servants. One of the first things the royal mistress does when a new maid arrives is to start a bank account for her. Friends of the royal household consider the Queen as an example for all mistresses where her maid servants are concerned, and there are some 30 or 40 of them. Judging the Queen purely as a woman, her friends aver, she would never be likely to come up against the servant problem as encountered by most persons owing to her thorough understanding of human nature.

CHANGE IN DATE.

BIG FIGHT COMING OFF.

CARTLIDGE V. MORRIS.

Chief Petty Officer "Jim" Cartledge, Royal Naval Yard, and Stoker Morris, H.M.S. "Hermes," are to box over 15 rounds at the Theatre Royal on the night of December 23.

At first the third tournament of the season was fixed for Christmas Eve. With the theatre being available the night before the change has been deemed advisable. Local ring enthusiasts have been eagerly looking forward to these two top-boxers meeting in the ring. No promise of an excellent contest is needed as both have shown what they can do.

Morris's London record has been published and his convincing victory last month over Piper has borne out all the good things said of him. His fighting weight is about 143 lbs.

Jim Cartledge has fought here as a lightweight, the limit being 135 lbs. In his victories over Andre Dupre and Matty Smith he has proved himself a worthy champion. This time as the fight will be at catchweights, he is likely to build himself up to nearer 140 lbs. than 135 so that he will not be conceding much weight.

Both men are masters of ringcraft. Morris has youth on his side. Cartledge is by no means an old man and for speed can still beat the best.

The Hongkong Boxing Association is to be congratulated on their enterprise in staging this bout. A meeting was held last night and it is understood that terms were confirmed.

Each man is putting up a side-stake of $100. The purse is $1,000—winner to take $550 and loser $450. It only remains for the public to signify approval by giving full support. An advertisement appears elsewhere.

It is also understood that the projected 10-round bout between Naegalin, the featherweight on the French warship, and Drummer Bowles, has not been fixed yet and that there may be a hitch.

Preliminaries are also being arranged and further details will be published as soon as possible.

A.B. Baker, to whom Emerson issued a challenge for a return 10-round contest through the "China Mail," has written to the "S.C.M. Post" accepting.

INTERPORT DATES.

LOCAL RUGGERITES IN SHANGHAI.

TRIANGULAR TOURNEY.

Dates have been fixed tentatively for the triangular interport rugby matches in Shanghai, in which Hongkong is taking part. The participants are Shanghai, Keio University (Japan) and Hongkong and the fixtures are:—
Saturday, Dec. 26—Shanghai v. Keio University.
Monday, Dec. 28—Shanghai v. Hongkong.
Wednesday, Dec. 30—Keio University v. Hongkong.
The Hongkong team is being selected but matters of leave, etc., will have considerable influence.

HONOURS EVEN.

"HAWKINS" AND SURREYS BOXING.

Honours were even last night in the team boxing competition between H.M.S. "Hawkins" (flagship) and the 1st East Surrey Regiment, each winning five bouts.

Officials were:—Lt. Hill, Lt. Beatty—referees; Lt. Majendie, Major Limbrey—judges; Lt. Murray—Smith—timekeeper; C.S.M. Parkes—announcer.
At the conclusion, Lt. Col. F. S. Montague Bate (i.e., 1st East Surrey Regt.) presented medals to contestants. Bouts were, of course, under service rules, of 3 rounds each, and resulted:—
Lightweight:—C.Y.S. Allen (184) "Hawkins" k.o. L/Cpl. Williams (162) Surreys, in round 1.
Middle:—A.B. Pearce (157) k.o. L. Cpl. Brand (158) in round 2.
Walter:—Stoker Morrell (147) beat Pte. Mann (143) on points.
A.B. Jackson (146) beat Cpl. Robbins in round 3.
Light:—Stoker Wright (136) k.o. by Pte. A. Grant (135) in round 1. Stoker Brown (136) lost to Pte. Ditch (132½) on points.
Feather:—Stoker Lee (127½) lost to Drummer Bowles (126) on points, after an extra (4th) round. A.B. Beach (125) lost to Cpl. Choules (127) on points.
Bantam:—Marine Doherty (119) lost to Drummer Simpson (116½) on points.
Fly:—O.S. Haugh (111) beat Pte. Woolcott (115) in round 3.

"WHITE WINGS."

ST. ANDREW'S V. ST. GEORGE'S YACHTING.

Another of the annual inter-Society competitions—the sailing races between St. Andrew's and St. George's—takes place this Sunday, morning and afternoon, at the R.H.K.Y.C.

A bowls match may also be played at the Yacht Club and tiffin will be served.

London, November 21. — By scoring 2 goals against the Arsenal to-day Harper (Blackburn) became the leading goal-scorer. Turnbull missed a penalty for Chelsea who suffered their first defeat. Watley, the Bristol Rovers' goal-keeper, achieved the unusual feat of saving two penalties.

HONOURING HOBBS.

HIS NATIVE TOWN PLANS PAVILION.

PARKER'S PLECE FUND.

London, October 12. In the past Cambridge has honoured Tom Hayward and "Bunji," and it was, therefore, hardly to be expected that the wonderful achievements of Hobbs could be allowed to pass without some recognition at his native town.

Moreover, it was felt that any permanent recognition should be associated with Parker's Plece, where Hobbs learned to play cricket.

It has now been decided to give him a complimentary dinner on November 28, the price of which is to be low enough to allow young cricketers to attend, and to start a fund for the erection of a Hobbs pavilion on Parker's Plece for the benefit of future generations of local cricketers.

In the Adamson Cup (6th competition), Mr. C. A. Grimes, with a score of 111—24=87, qualified. The last qualifying competition will be held on Sunday, December 27.

STRANGLER LEWIS.

CHAMPION WRESTLER OF WORLD.

(Associated Press.)

Denver (Colo.), Dec. 9. Ed (Strangler) Lewis successfully defended his title as heavyweight wrestling champion of the world last night by tossing Wayne Munn for two falls out of three. Munn won the second fall, tossing Lewis out of the ring twice.

The newly formed Indian Hockey Federation is to send a team from India to New Zealand next April. The side will be three British officers, three Indian officers, and about ten players of other Indian Army ranks. It will be the first time a hockey tourist party has visited New Zealand, where the game is growing. The New Zealand H.A. are still hoping that a British hockey team will visit them in the next year or two.

WHOSE BOY?

A touching scene was witnessed just before the "Alania" sailed from Southampton when the eight-year-old Canadian boy, Roy Lawrence Nelson, bade good-bye to Mrs. Ruby Henshaw, from whose care the boy was removed by the police when they landed at Southampton.

The police had acted on telegraphic messages from Ottawa, which suggested that the boy had been abducted and that his mother was beginning legal proceedings for his recovery. Canadian immigration officials took charge of the boy, and a passage for Canada was obtained for him on the liner by which he had travelled from Montreal to England. Mrs. Henshaw was on the liner before the boy arrived, and, when questioned, refused to make any statement concerning the allegations from Ottawa. When the boy was brought to the liner by a Canadian immigration officer she immediately greeted him with "Hello, darling!" and he flung himself into her arms, both bursting into tears. Lawrence later told a reporter that he did not want to leave his "mother"—referring to Mrs. Henshaw. He had never seen Mrs. Nelson, who was said to be his mother, and he felt sure she did not know him. "I think," he added, "she has seen my photo and rather likes me."

Canon Carnegie, of Westminster, has denied emphatically that he said: "America is degenerating from a human society into a monkey house." Paderewski will never play in Washington again, refusing to appear as a paid performer before statesmen he met in conference when Premier of Poland. Arthur Meighen led the Conservatives to victory in the Canadian elections, defeating, among others, eight members of the Liberal cabinet, including Premier King. Elias Mortimer, who boasted of his influence in Washington, was accused in New York of obtaining $50 by fraud.

ODDS AND ENDS

An Ex-Premier's Stories.

With a collection of English, Scottish, Irish, and American stories, told to illustrate his subject, "Humour," Lord Morris, the ex-Premier of Newfoundland, kept a large audience amused for an hour and a half at the opening of the English-speaking Union's winter session. Lord Morris said that American humour was more subtle and less on the surface than English, Irish, or Scottish humour. The latter dealt with the common everyday affairs of life; the American left a good deal to the imagination, and it might not be understood outside of its particular locality. There was the story concerning the matter of a written constitution and its interpretation by the judges. A case under the Boston law that prevents the erection of a public-house within 200 yards of a church came before a judge, and he directed that the church should be taken down, alleging that Lord Morris said one who displayed unusual inquisitiveness or perhaps stood at another too much was known as a "rubber neck." A lady's child, extraordinarily unimpressive, attracted the attention of an Englishman in a car, and the mother, looking at him, said "Fisher." "Thank God, yes," the man rejoined, "I thought it was bad."

The Hangman's Fees.

The hangman whose crest is a felon's head with a rope round the neck—held rights of execution in the district of the Peak of thirty years, but he rather thinks this was a matter of jurisdiction, and not of the fact of execution, says a Scots writer. Many families in early days had their jurisdiction "of life and death," but the only private house I have ever heard of where the gallows still remains is "Cabin Maibly, in Monmouthshire, formerly the seat of the Kemove-Tynte family, the head of which is the present Lord Wharfedale." He said the estate a year or two ago to Lord Trevelyan, who has presented the house to some public authority as a sanatorium. In the reign of Henry III. the hangman for the County of Kent got 20 shillings a year, and until recently the hangman to the Sheriff of the City of London and County of Middlesex got a salary of a guinea a week and a guinea for each execution with the perquisites of the rope and the clothes of the murderer. He was usually employed by all the other Sheriffs, but what they paid I have no idea. Nowadays perquisites are abolished; one rope hangs many murderers, and the fee is 25 for each execution, with travelling expenses; and there are several executions. In the United States the fee was 250 dollars for each execution, and the official has just resigned because the sum has been reduced to 50 dollars. But there are a lot of informal executions which take place in the wild and woolly West, and at one of them the Sheriff asked for a victim—a negro—if he wished to say anything before he was hanged. "Yes," the man replied, "I am the only one out of the whole lot of you that isn't making a bit out of this performance; get on with it."

All Britons like their tea, especially in the afternoon. But Margaret Irving, of London, as an official tea taster, has a drop or two out of hundreds of cups daily.

The Most Influential Man.

"If I were asked to name the most influential member of the Government I should not select the Prime Minister, Mr. Baldwin drifts amiably about from all points of the compass according to any breath of wind that blows upon him or any turn of the tide that overtakes him," writes "A. G. C." in the "Daily News." "Nor should I choose Mr. Churchill in spite of his restless energy and his intrepidity in debate, for Mr. Churchill is an adventurer without any philosophy of life or affairs, except the philosophy of action. I should name the most dour, the most drab, the least popularly attractive figure in the Cabinet. To the public Mr. Leopold Charles Maurice Stennett Amery is a name and nothing more. In private relations he is a man of attractive parts and manners, but in public life no man has reached the front rank with so few of the parts of popular appeal or with so little success in impressing his personality on the public mind."

Lady Chatterjee's Suggestion.
 "In England Truck Acts have been in force since 1831. No similar protection is afforded to workers in India. Many firms have very elaborate systems of fines in force," writes Lady Chatterjee in the "Asiatic Review." "Not only do they make deductions of wages for 'double the length of absence, but they also withhold wages when workers leave without giving due notice. The fines relating to faulty work are also in many cases severe. As the workers are in the majority of cases, illiterate, and as wages are in the Bombay cotton mill industry, for instance, paid six weeks in arrears, it is not possible for them either to check the amount of the fines deducted from their wages or even to comprehend exactly for what reasons the fines have been imposed."

TICKLING THROAT.

Did you ever have that nerve-racking experience caused by a bit of mucus or phlegm that stubbornly refuses to be dislodged, but tickles and tickles until it sometimes almost strangles? Just a few sips of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, swallowed very slowly, and allowed to glide down the throat, will stop that tickle and at once give you immense relief. Try it that way too for hoarseness, bronchial and other coughs. For sale everywhere.
